Dear Mr. Beringson,

The first week in a new school and a new grade is always scary. Every day in the first week is somewhat nerve racking. I was nervous but also excited. When I first read my schedule, I thought that your class sounded interesting. I have you first on B days, so the first time that I went to your class was the second day of school. By that time I was a little less nervous. The first week was nowhere near as bad as I thought it was going to be. I thought the school was a complete maze, which it is, and I would get lost, but I was able to use the room numbers to get around. That's how I found your class.

I really liked your classroom atmosphere. I also liked that we sat in tables. I really enjoyed hearing about how far the Communication Arts Department has come. You and all of the teachers have made me feel welcome here. I like your teaching style because it makes me want to pay attention, and I also like the examples that you give. You made it very easy to understand how companies use commercials.

Thank you for all of your hard work, both in making students feel welcome and in reviving the Communication Arts Department here. I am excited to learn how to use cameras, setup lighting, and edit videos. Your class sounds very interesting. I love learning how to use new technology. I am very thankful to have teachers like you that care about your students and want them to succeed. You helped make me feel welcome at Savannah Arts. I am looking forward to a great school year in your class.

Sincerely,

Jack Kelly
